

Blue? BLUE!!

Out with brown and grey and even beige - we are clamoring for blue! What other color can be serene as an ocean wave or regal as a king's ceremonial robe or deep as a thundercloud?

You would have to be living under the proverbial rock not to have noticed the grey trend that has taken home furnishings by storm. But now, even as you read this, the grey trend is morphing to blue; grey's more exciting and universally flattering cousin.

Fashion designers took notice for fall. From Gucci and Michael Kors to Balmain and Balenciaga, Fall fashion is awash with all shades of blue, teal and everything in between.

October Furniture Market is fast approaching and Marge Carson has also taken notice. We will be introducing a range of new fabrics in blue. There will be midnight blue silk with sequins, turquoise and gold palatial paisleys, and a more muted palette of smoky blue and brown. All of these fabrics easily accent neutral body fabrics in golds, taupes and ivories.

From the very traditional medallion pattern to a modern design that would make Mondrian proud, the new blue fabrics are the accents that make your home complete. Just as a beautiful handbag would enhance and complete an outfit.

These blues are fresh and chic while being classic and timeless - the perfect addition to your home!
